
Rock-n-Roll, made it happen

The show is still roaring, but Cassy's attention slips somewhere smaller and riskier.
9:41
Instagram
Luka
Luka
Follow
You were kind of incredible up there.
You were kind of incredible up there.
You were kind of incredible up there.
Q W E R T Y U I O P
G H J K L
She sends it expecting absolutely nothing.
...

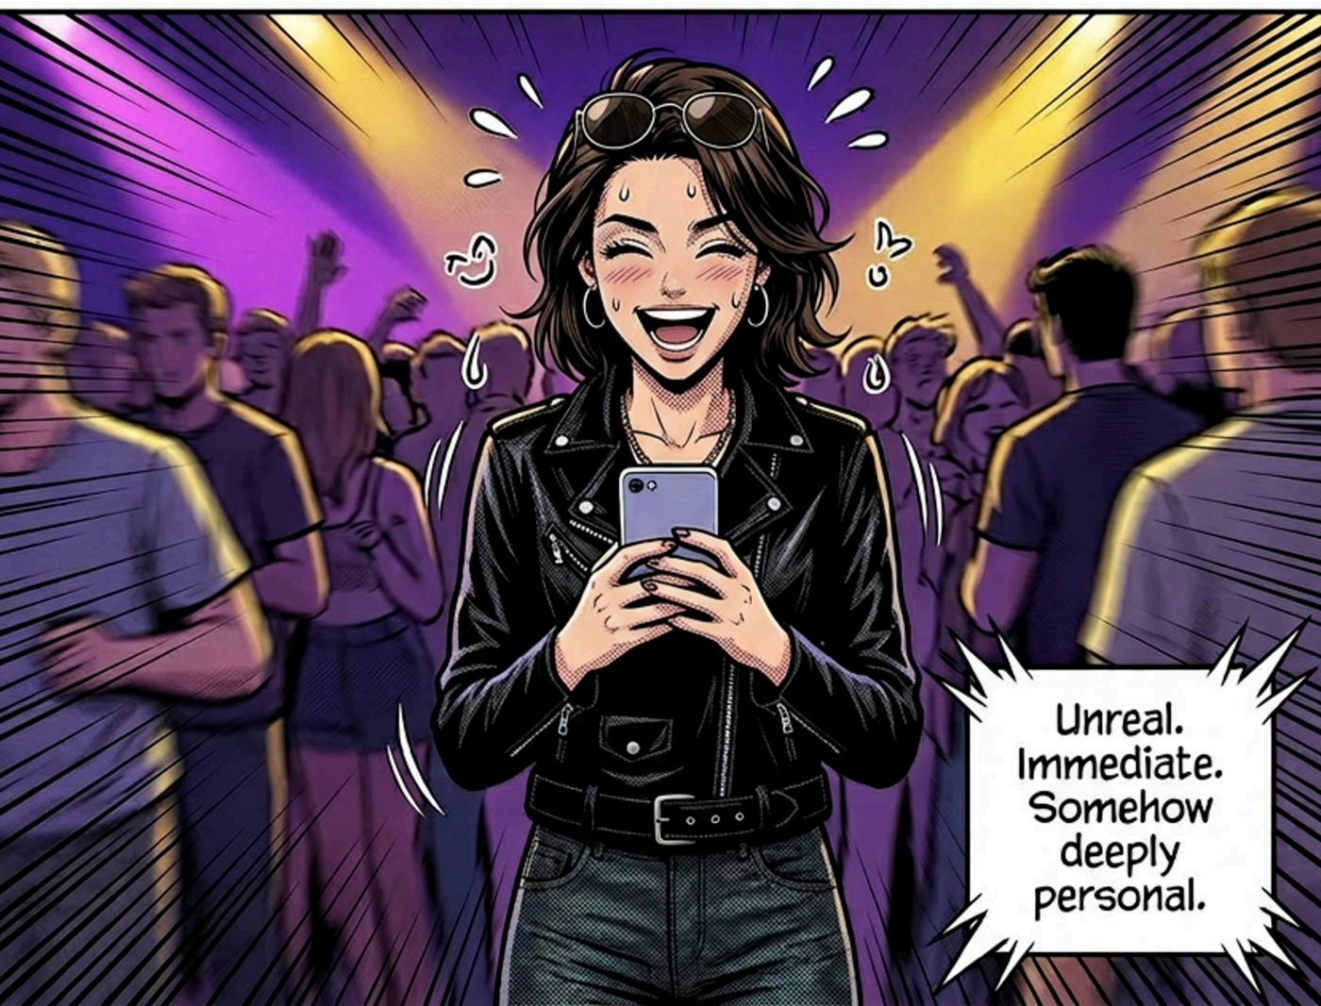

'Okay. Fine.
Message sent.
Night over.
EXIT

Kaito

Then his reply hits like a second encore.

9:41
CHAR2
Kind of? I was hoping you noticed.
Kind of? I was hoping you noticed.
Message

Unreal. Immediate. Somehow deeply personal.

...it was hard to notice but...
no, too obvious...
can you see me...
Message
return

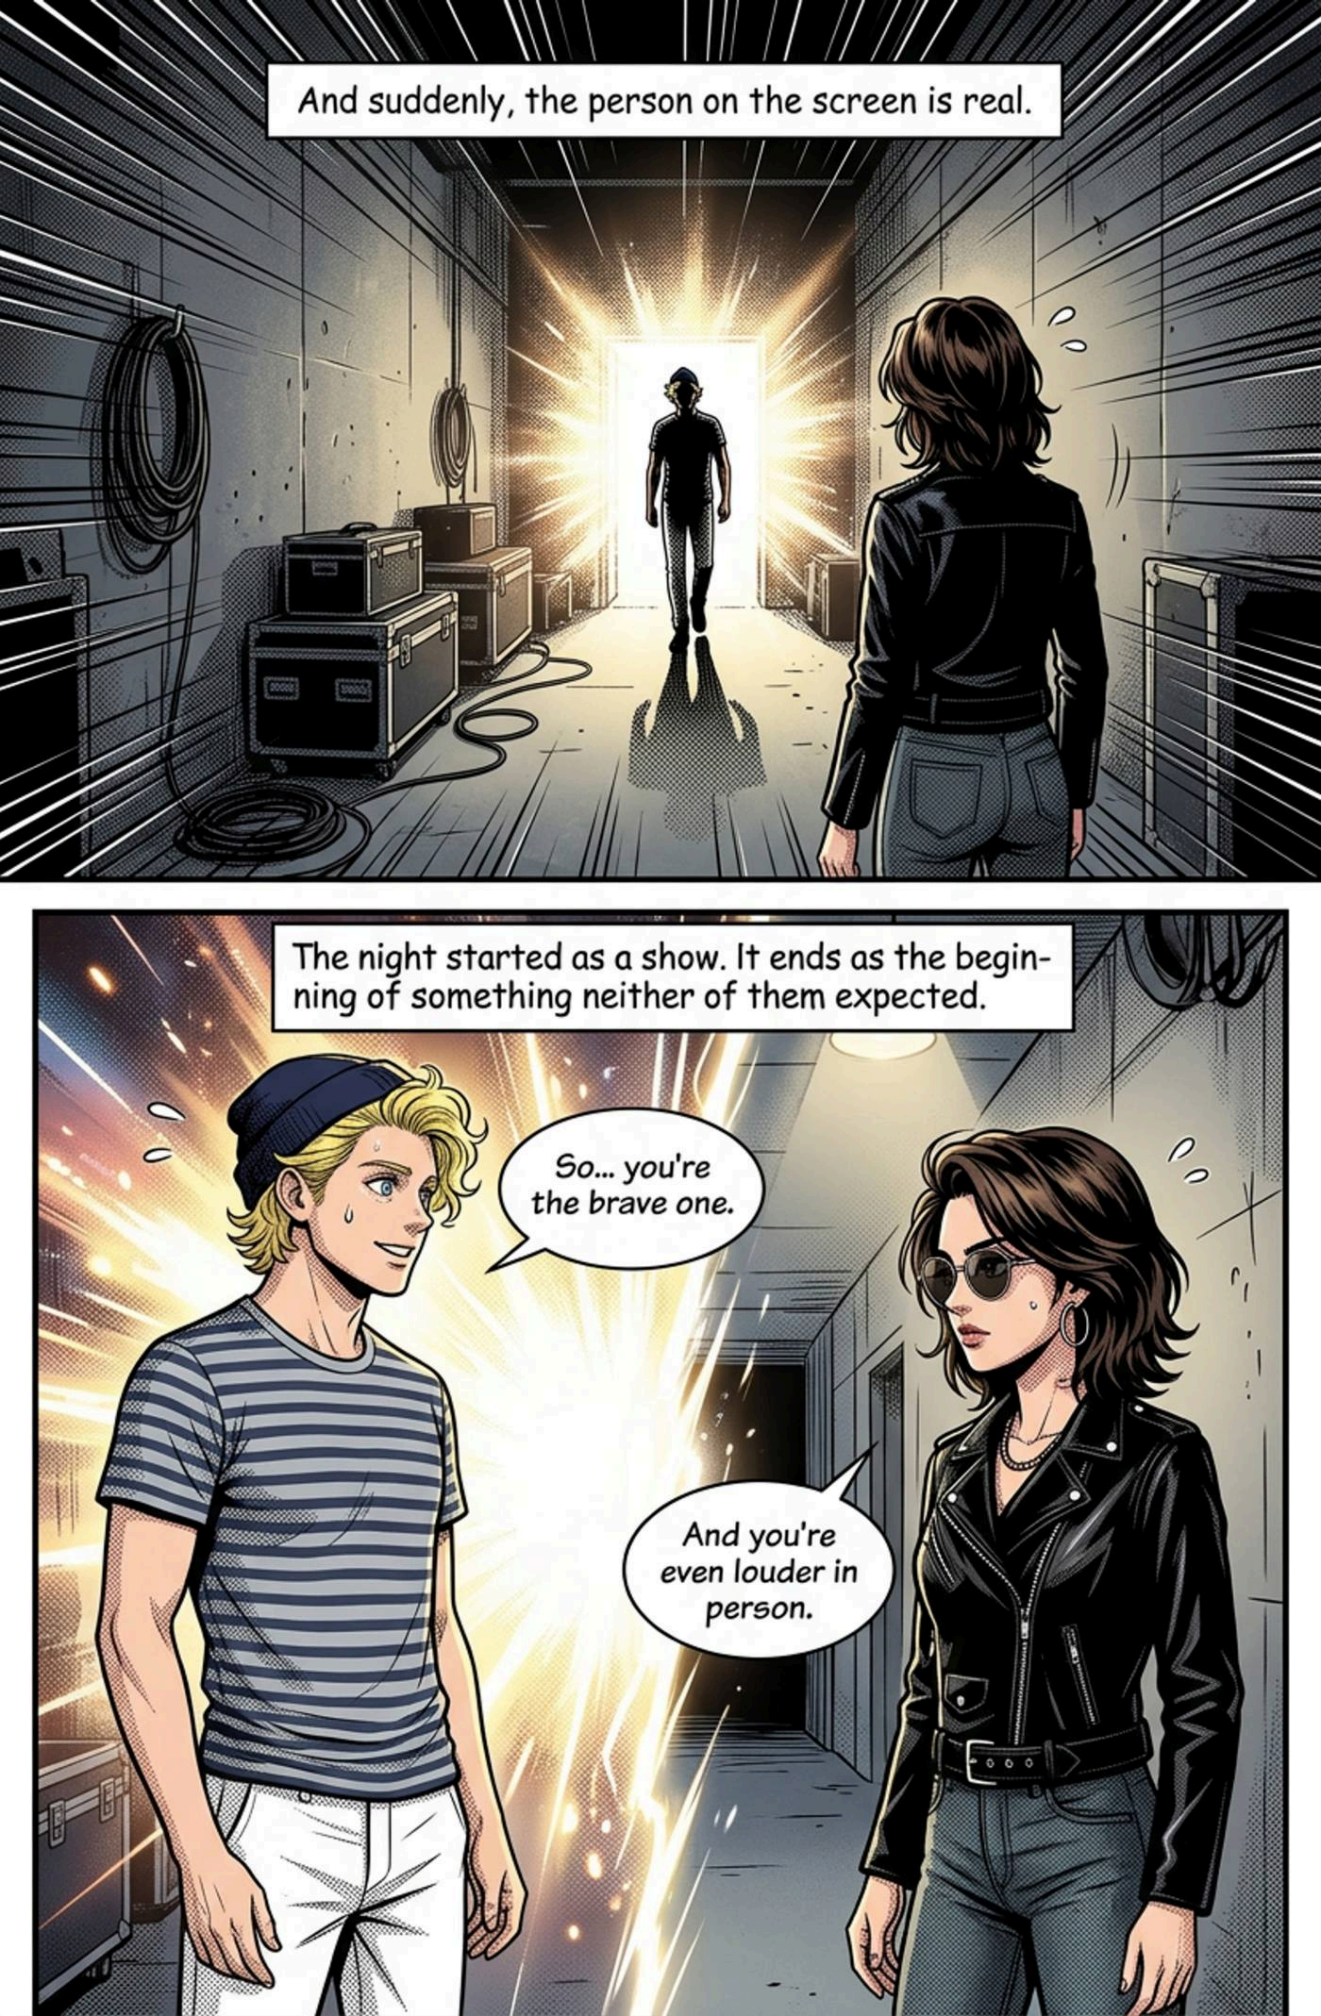

Hard not to notice.

pika

KAITO
Stay after? Id like to meet the person brave enough to message me mid-set.
---doki
doki

That one sentence changes the shape of everything.
EXIT
Yeah. Ill stay.
SET LIST
For the first time all night, waiting feels electric.

And suddenly, the person on the screen is real.
The night started as a show. It ends as the beginning of something neither of them expected.
So... you're the brave one.
And you're even louder in person.

Rock -n- Roll, made it happen

At Nate's concert, Cassy impulsively sends him a playful Instagram message from the crowd, fully expecting it to disappear into the void. Instead, Nate replies almost immediately, and their brief exchange turns the chaos of the venue into something private and electric. Their messages quickly build from teasing to personal, ending with Nate asking her to stay after the set. By the end of the night, Cassy waits backstage and finally meets him face-to-face, both of them recognizing that something unexpected has just begun.

mycomics.ai - 11 May 2026